LOOK/FEEL: modern, dressy-casual, reflective of printed materials (refer to SH_7.pdf) with earth tones like yellow ochre and burnt orange, accented with brighter oranges/corals – like the wines’ labels; contrasted with black; some script-type visual fonts used, like those in referenced materials; as with some of the other modules, brighter colors could be introduced when the music and text calls for it.	MUSIC: Overview commences with uplifting native N.Z. music, then fades out when history discussion begins. Concluding paragraph fades in with similarly upbeat music. VOICEOVER: Same talent who narrated the New Harbor module.

OVERVIEW/HISTORY (1 minute) You probably already know that New Zealand is famous for rugby. You are familiar with her numerous islands, amazing wildlife and spectacular landscapes, but did you know we also make extraordinary Sauvignon Blanc? With its exotic herbal aromas and limy acidity, New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc is a big hit with wine lovers in the United States. Sacred Hill Winery of Hawke’s Bay is a benchmark example of excellence in Sauvignon Blanc, among their other brilliant creations. One of the top producers in New Zealand, Sacred Hill is reserve caliber, having garnered gold medal status for every Sauvignon Blanc vintage produced. Diageo Chateau &amp; Estate Wines is happy to have Sacred Hill among its

VINEYARDS (55 seconds) On the sunny southern side of Marlborough's Wairu Valley, Sacred Hills' Hells Gate Vineyard produces the grapes dedicated to its exceptional Sauvignon Blanc. Marlborough's cool climate and sharp temperature changes from day to evening produces fruit with high acidity, while the stony and silty soils of the Wairau plains contribute to the herbal character so prized in New Zealand Sauvignon Blancs. South of Marlborough, the Central Otago region provides the grapes for Sacred Hill's Pinot Noir, produced in very limited quantity. The area's climatic extremes produce wines of

WINEMAKING/PEOPLE (25 seconds) Faced with the decision to choose between his great loves, winemaking and skiing, Sacred Hill's winemaker, Tony Bish, chose both, alternately skiing and working at different wineries during the first part of his career in the early 1980s. Eventually, he landed the Sacred Hill position. Along with David Mason, Tony helped launch Sacred Hill's first vintage in 1986, producing just 350 cases. Video plays.

WINES/WINE TIERS (25 seconds) The two Sacred Hill wines represented by Diageo are both Reserve Wines, providing extraordinary quality and style. The deep citrus nose of Sacred Hill's Sauvignon Blanc is classic for the grape in New Zealand, but not typical of its U.S. counterpart. This intensely aromatic wine depicts the truest expression of Marlborough's terroir. Pinot Noirs from New Zealand typically have robust fruit flavors complemented by rich earthy tones, and Sacred Hill's version is no exception. Central Otago Pinot Noirs have earned numerous international awards.
