We The People Walnut Creek Owners Present: a New and Successful Manager for their Oakland Store, Ian Duncan

Paralegal Marie Alexander Joins The WTP Oakland Team To Assist With Increased Business

When asked how he managed to double the Oakland We The People store's volume this last December over the previous December of 2005, manager Ian Duncan modestly replied that all it takes is talking to people, smiling and being nice. That adds up to good old-fashioned customer service. This year, his tact will be to go outside of the store more often, talk to the public, hold seminars and frequent churches and other community groups.

Ian Duncan hails from Alamo, California and has previous work history in banking and brokerage, with five years' management experience to enhance his current position. Although he started with We The People Oakland as assistant manager, his diligence and hard work lead to his success and promotion.

His first order of business was to hire Marie Alexander, resident of Oakland for many years, who came to We The People with a certificate from the University of San Francisco's paralegal program. Her knowledge of the legal field has contributed to the success of the branch.

The Oakland We The People store's top products are neck and neck: living trust and divorce. What else distinguishes the Oakland branch from other We The People branches? Ian has observed that the clientele of the Walnut Creek branch, for example, are mostly professionals looking for administrative assistants to speedily handle their uncontested legal paperwork. Many Oakland customers seek more assistance, so the Oakland staff tends to make legal reading materials readily available and offers more referrals to the We The People attorney on staff. We The People personnel do not give legal advice, but can supply extremely beneficial resources.

Visit We The People Oakland at 244 Grand Avenue, Oakland, CA 94610 or at their website: <http://www.wethepeopleoaklandca.com>. Call Ian or Marie at 510-452-2320 and email them at wtp.oakland@sbcglobal.net.
